BRIEF COURSE DESCRIPTION	The aim of the course is to provide students with basic knowledge on the design of medical devices for given applications, from biomaterial choice to manufacturing technologies. Particular attention is given to the development of the following devices: a) artificial prostheses; b) scaffolds for regenerative medicine and tissue engineering; c) devices for controlled drug release.
REQUIREMENTS	Basic knowledge on polymer science and technology is suggested.
COURSE AIMS	This course aims to highlight the properties of biomaterials affecting their performance as medical implants, scaffolds for tissue engineering and drug delivery devices. At the end of the course, students are expected to: understand the physiological response to medical implants;
		 know the principles of scaffold design and related manufacturing technologies; know the principles of drug delivery design;
		e most suitable biomaterial(s) for given applications;
	 know the methods for bulk and surface characterization of biomaterials.
TEACHING METHODOLOGY	The course includes lectures, lab experiences and seminars on selected topics.
ASSESSMENT TYPE	Final exam will consists of an oral interview, during which the student is expected to show complete knowledge and comprehension of the topics of the course.
